

Building Regulation Compliance

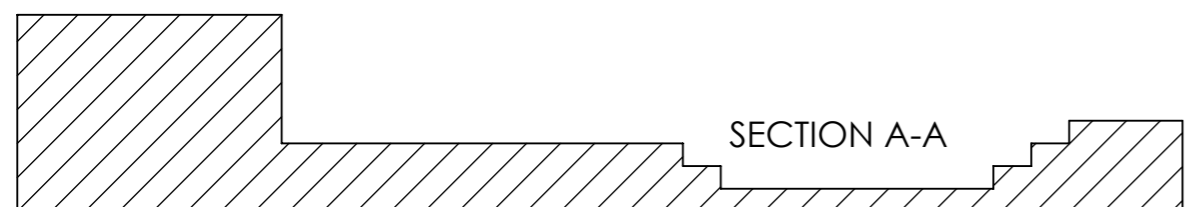

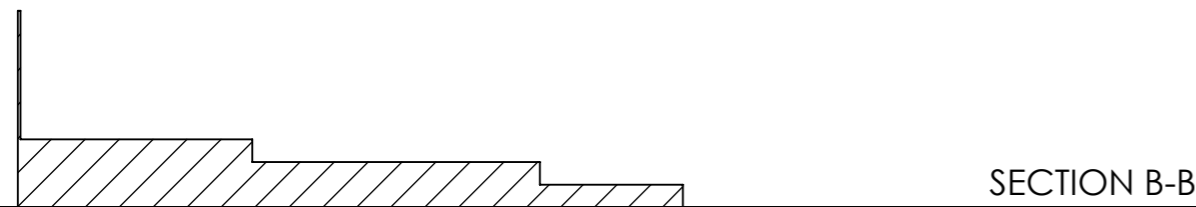

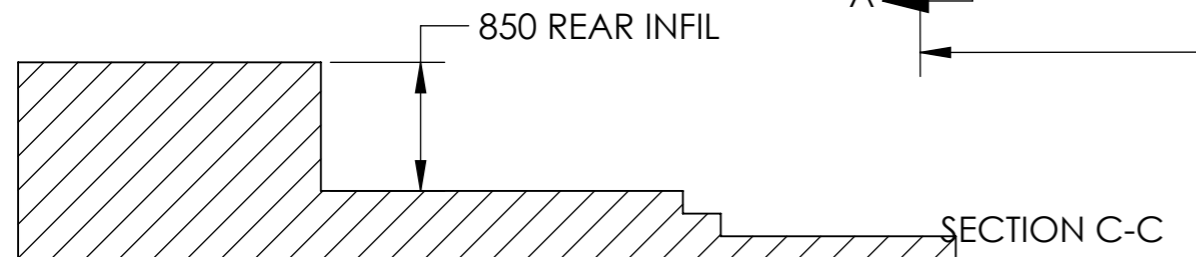

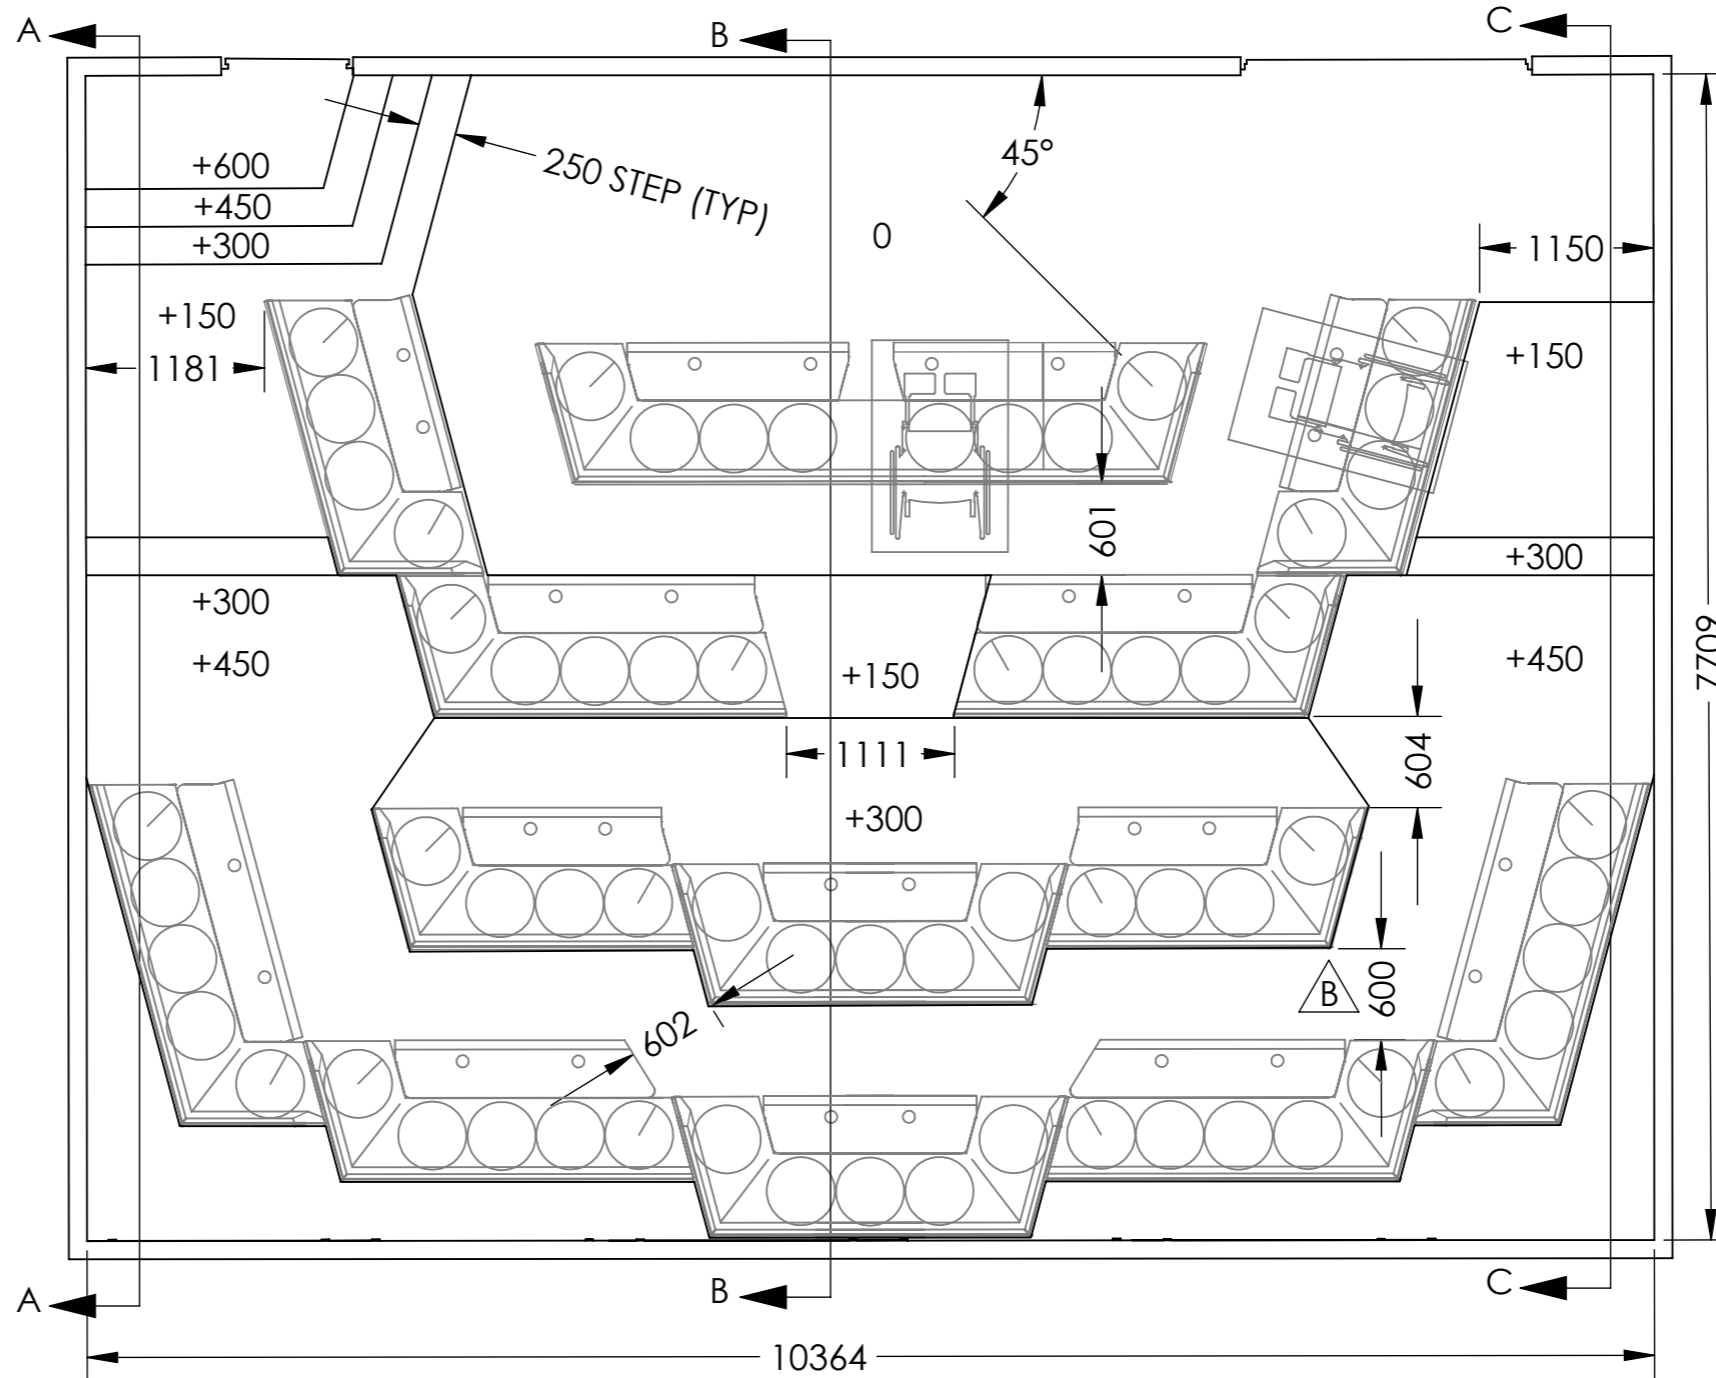

Before approving this proposal to enable production of the product,

Race Furniture require written confirmation that this drawing has been checked by a qualified building control consultant to ensure conformance with all local regulations applicable within the country in which this proposal is to be installed.

In the UK this includes (but not limited to) BS9999 2017 Fire safety in the design, management and use of buildings.

I approve the manufacture of the component based on the specification and note above.
